

Jake Drake Know-it-All, by Andrew Clements

Jake Drake Teacher's

Jake Drake Bully

Jake Drake is excited about his first science fair. He wants to win the grand prize and he wants to beat the know-it-alls in third grade. To win he might just have to be a know-it-all himself.

Balto and the Great Race, by Elizabeth Kimmel

Nome, Alaska, 1925. Dozens of children become ill with diphtheria. The closest supply of antitoxin serum is 650 miles away. The only way to get the serum is by sled. Can the sled dogs deliver the serum in time?

The Sword in the Tree, by Clyde Robert Bulla

Within the sturdy walls of the great fortress, Shan dreams of becoming a swordsman like his father, Lord Weldon. His estranged uncle arrives and he sets his sights on Weldon Castle. When Shan's father disappears, Shan and his mother must flee for their lives. Shan's quest takes him to King Arthur at Camelot. Will Shan ever return to Weldon castle to reclaim his rightful place as heir of Weldon Castle?

The Hidden Stairs and the Magic Carpet (The Secrets of Droon) Bk #1

Journey to the Volcano Palace Bk #2

Underneath the steps is a hidden storage space. When the kids all huddle inside the room together, something unbelievable happens. The kids take their very first step down into the mysterious land of Droon and magic and adventure awaits them.

Twenty and Ten, by Claire Huchet Bishop

During the German occupation of France, twenty French children were brought to a refuge in the mountains. One day a man came to their school with a request. Could they take in, and hide, ten Jewish children? Sister Gabriel told them the Nazis are looking for those children. How would they hide them if the Nazis came?

The Dog's Secret, by Ellen Miles

The Pirate's Plot

Mr. Taylor is a teacher who tells lots of fantastic tales. The students choose any five things and Mr. Taylor will craft a Taylor-Made Tale just for them.

Fantastic Mr. Fox, by Roald Dahl

Boggis, Bunch and Bean are three of the meanest farmers you'd ever hate to meet—and they'll do anything to get Mr. Fox. That clever fox has been stealing their farmyard fowl for years but now fat Boggis, squat Bunch and skinny Bean have joined forces. Together they'll shoot, starve or dig him out. Unfortunately for the farmers, Mr. Fox and his fine family have other plans.

There's an Owl in the Shower, by Jean Craighead George

When Borden's father finds out that there's an owl in his house, he's pretty angry. Mr. Watson is a logger, and spotted owls spell big trouble for the logging industry. Then the little owl imprints on gruff Mr. Watson and changes the family's life forever.

T. J.'s Secret Pitch, or Kid Coach, by Fred Bowen

The Kid Coach,

More than anything, T. J. wants to be a pitcher. But he's smaller than his teammates, and his pitches just don't pack the power they need to strike out the batters. He decides to try Pittsburgh's Sewell's secret weapon. Will this help lead his team to victory?

Owen Foote, Frontiersman, by Stephanie Greene

Owen Foote, Super Spy

Owen goes into the woods with his best friend armed with a jar of red pepper flakes to ward off bears and mountain lions. They're met by two big kids who want to spoil Owen's fun. Owen and Joseph teach their tormentors a lesson and learn a few new tricks themselves.

The Water Horse, by Dick King-Smith

When Kristie brings home a strange egg from the Scottish shore, her family never expects it to hatch. But the next day they discover a baby sea monster swimming in the bathtub! Part horse, toad, turtle and crocodile. Grandfather knows what the beastie really is--a Water Horse.

Bunnicula, a Rabbit-Tale of Mystery, by Deborah Howe

Toby found a rabbit on his seat at the movies and named him Bunnicula. There is something odd about Bunnicula. He has fangs and odd markings on his back. And he sleeps from sunup to sundown. Vegetables are found around the house with fang marks on them. Is he really a vampire?

Key to the Treasure, by Peggy Parish

Clues in the Woods

Liza, Bill and Jed visit their grandparents and hear the story of the sketches hung above the fireplace. The sketches are clues to the location of a hidden treasure. Can they figure out the clues and find the treasure?

Tornado, by Betsy Byars

As they wait out a tornado in their storm cellar, a family listens to their farmhand tell stories about the dog that was blown into his life by another tornado when he was a boy.

Ace, a Very Important Pig, by Dick King-Smith

Farmer Tubbs' amazing pig, Ace of Clubs, eventually winds up on television for his cleverness.

The Toothpaste Millionaire, by Jean Merrill

Rufus doesn't start out to make a million dollars. It just happens when he becomes upset over the fact that a tube of toothpaste costs 79 cents.

My Robot Buddy, by Alfred Slote

Jack received a robot for his 10th birthday. He can do everything Jack can do and it's a good thing, too, because Jack needs all the help he can get to foil an evil robot nabber.

Otis Spofford, by Beverly Cleary

The misadventures of a young boy whose mischievous spirit constantly get him in trouble.

Henry Huggins Series, Beverly Cleary

Henry and the paper route

Henry and the clubhouse

Henry and Ribsy

The Pencil by Allan Ahlberg

A lonely pencil draws Banjo, and also a dog, a cat, and other people, but when the characters start complaining about their appearance, the writing instrument draws an eraser, which starts to create chaos.

Paint the Wind by Pam Ryan

After her overprotective grandmother has a stroke, eleven-year-old Maya, an orphan, leaves her extremely restricted life in California to stay with her mother's family on a remote Wyoming ranch, where she discovers a love of horses and encounters Artemisia, a wild mare that her mother once rode

Like Jake and Me by Mavis Jukes

Alex feels that he does not have much in common with his stepfather Jake until a fuzzy spider brings them together.

The Ant and the Elephant by Bill Peet

Of all the animals the elephant rescues, only the tiny ant returns the favor.

Swimming with Sharks by Betty Hicks

Rita tries to improve her times and flip turns as she struggles to decide whether to remain the best swimmer on the Dolphins team or the worst on the Sharks team, where she could be with her friends.

Basketball Bats by Betty Hicks

Henry learns a lesson in teamwork when his inexperienced basketball team, the Bats, takes on the Tigers, a team that not only plays at the big YWCA but has a player old enough to shave.